SCHOOL OF GLOBAL MANAGEMENT

Thunderbird Campus

A Global Beginning. A Global Future.

For most prospective students, it takes just one visit to Thunderbird's historic campus to assure them they've found their academic and cultural home.

Truly Global Campus

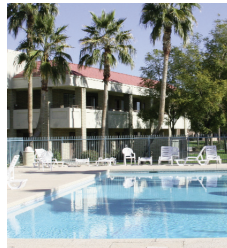

Originally a training base for Air Corps cadets during World War II, Thunderbird was transformed in 1946 into the world's first business school focused exclusively on international management. Thunderbird's main campus, located in Glendale, Arizona, has often been compared to a mini-United Nations with its diverse student population from more than 50 countries.

Campus Amenities

Thunderbird's community-within-a-community offers:

- Various lodging options for students and visitors, including four on-campus residence halls (offering free cable TV), and an on-site Executive Inn with state-of-the-art amenities.
- Dining at the Thunderbird Commons, featuring a sandwich counter, hot entrees, ethnic specialties, salad bar, grill, stir-fry cuisine, pizza, pastries, and Starbucks coffee
- A large fitness center with resistance-training equipment, free-weights, treadmills, stair steppers, elliptical trainers and a room for group exercise
- A 16-acre rugby field, tennis/cricket courts, and an outdoor swimming pool
- On-campus health center
- Full-service print shop
- International Business Information Centre, with more than 50 databases accessible anywhere in the world, 20,000 electronic business books, 40 workstations, and newspapers from 20 countries

Access to Business, Sports & the Great Outdoors

In the heart of Arizona, Phoenix offers access to a well-diversified business environment and entrepreneurial opportunities. But it's not all work and no play. The state's professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey teams all reside in Phoenix – and with more than 300 days of sunshine every year, outdoor activities such as hiking, biking and golfing abound.

On-campus Experience

More than 50 social, cultural and academic student clubs are active on campus. Frequent Regional Nights transform the campus into an explosion of global celebration, with dance, fashions and gourmet cuisine from around the world. The on-campus gym, swimming pool, pub, BBQ areas, sports field, global business library and dining hall offer further social spaces for students.
